Today I told my kids Goodbye.

3876

1 months ago by theObjectiveTruth +3882 / -6

Today I had the very difficult conversation with my children, that daddy might not come home from D.C. As a Veteran this is always something you are prepared to discuss, but it never comes easy.

Today I booked my flight to the east coast. On January 6th I will stand up with my fellow Americans and demand justice. When I joined the Army I swore to defend my country from all enemies, both Foreign & Domestic. Today we face a multitude of enemies that would have us bow down, and surrender our rights. Not today! Not EVER! For those of you watching all of this unfold from the sidelines, know that I harbor no ill feelings, but it is best you pay attention.

From Coronavirus lockdowns, to mask mandates, to voting irregularities and blatant fraud. From "woke" ideologies like critical race theory, and progressive Marxism. We face an attack on all fronts. No longer will Americans stand by and watch our country systematically dismantled. I hope beyond all hope that this movement remains a peaceful one, that we might achieve Justice for our citizen voters. And I hope that the threats from Antifa and BLM do not get carried out against patriots. Know, that as an American Veteran, I love you all. No matter your race, sex, creed, religion, skin color, or political preference. But we must protect our liberties, today, and always.

Hug your friends and families. Tell them you love them. What comes the 6th remains to be seen, but you must be prepared. I am not particularly religious, but may those of you that are, find solace in your god, and pray for a safe return to your families. We do this not for ourselves, but for all Americans. Remember that on the 6th.

426  I had the talk with my husband too. He's not a fighter. But I am. He's not happy, and he's going with me, but I told him that if I say go and leave me behind, that he must do it. No questions asked. I look forward to standing with you on the front lines. If it came down to it I wouldn't think twice about dying just so my family and friends can live free.

I've had the talk with my wife, and she agrees that there is no greater gift that we could give to our kids and grandchildren than to do whatever we can to help preserve this great nation and our freedoms, even if it meant the end of us. See you on the 6th!

If you catch them doing a live segment, then you do the "anti fake-news maneuver".

A coordinated action by 2 or more persons. One gets their camera while other get the microphone from the "journalist". (maybe more required to make sure they don't grab them back).

Then the cameraman shows what they are hiding, and the one with the micro tell the real news.

Freedom is never free.

7 ▼ When police feel threatened they start shooting. And when rounds start coming at you and dropping people like bloody screaming sacks, most people don't keep running towards gunfire. The police don't expend all their rounds and wait for a mob beating. They retreat tactically. Show me a case of a large police contingent getting beaten down. The average DC cop has nothing whatsoever to do with Schumer, Schiff, Soros, Pelosi, Sotomayor, Kagan and so on. Pick targets effectively. Identify enemy encampments. Enemy isn't available? Be selective with targets of opportunity and previously identified targets. You don't win this sort of civil war by alienating more and more people. Most Americans back the blue most of the time. Cops didn't cause Covid or shut down things or steal election or refuse lawsuits. They are garbage collectors with guns.

It's not us patriots who alienate anyone. The alienating is done to us. Proud Boys dropped supporting the Blue after the traitorous cops alienated them, making them vulnerable for attacks from Antifa and BLM terrorists while defending the attackers. Who is alienating whom?

“Psyops. Propaganda has nothing to do with the truth or a timeline. If they can get footage of angry white guys attacking uniformed police it will just serve their lie.

What about patriots' own ability to record footages? All lies will be exposed with simple video-graphic evidences, as most hoaxes have been. George Floyd's footages were known and presented, too, but once the BLM terrorists' masters proceeded to ignore them, it's time for nothing else but war.

“Remember Charlottesville? A bunch of angry white guys with torches wasn't a good look.

It's a setup from the start, as all the fake news media outlets had been ramping and hyping it up leading to the event. Too bad a relatively small number of fools fell for their race baiting.

“I don't rule out the importance of the deed and targeted violence. Yes, the media lie in any event by omission or straight up fabrication. I just think attacking cops is wrong and counterproductive. If things pick up this year you will find many cops are on the right side or will be officially neutral.

Dude, cops are civil servants salaried by the public via tax to serve the public's interest. Once they nullify that social contract by unlawfully inflicting harms, injuries, and/or deaths on their subjects, they are no longer cops but domestic enemies/terrorists by definition. Not all cops are bad or good cops, but both deserve recognitions. Good cops that side with patriots can remain cops. Bad cops that side with traitors become enemies of the people.

75 Let's hope that through your actions and the actions of millions of other patriots, your children will live their entire lives without ever having to face a threat like this again. My prayers go out to you so that you may be granted, strength, courage, honor and wisdom and that you return to your family, safe and unharmed when the job is done.

64 ▼ For those individuals that are obviously here to "troll" or "incite", do not think us ignorant. We that participate in this movement, have experience. We have strong underlying beliefs. We stand together and hope for the best, but we prepare for the worst. We move on D.C. with infinite hope that justice will be realized through peace, yet most of us see this as not likely. One way or another our voice WILL be heard. For those that continue to doubt.

Just wait...

Grow up to be a patriot. Watch actively now. Learn from what's being done, and when you are of age, actively defend against those who would corrupt and destroy our wonderful country.

Hell, at 16, you can participate in your local elections to start bolstering our grass-roots numbers.

If we hadn't grown so complacent, and handed so much of the reigns of power over to them (effectively), they couldn't have done this. Run for what ever you can now, even dog-catcher. I'm serious. Get involved and motivate others.

4  The hardest part about having courage is to fight fear, to such a degree where any step forward gives you more courage, when fear tells you too take a few steps back. Be resolved but be smart going forward. Live to fight another day but if necessary please choose to step forward. Liberty for future generations does not require courage it requires you to not be complacent to giving everything for their freedoms. Use your Voice First. Use your steps forward Second. Give your life only if those first two choices don't work! God Speed Americans! The Constitution is worth protecting!
